British Ready To Talk Peace With Germany

Would Consider Proposals On Assurances

LONDON, May 3.—(P)—The foreign secretaries of Britain, France and Soviet Russia were reliably reported tonight to have arranged to meet at Geneva May 15 in an effort to complete their projected alliance.

The League of Nations council is meeting there then, and it was stated authoritatively that Maxim Litvinoff of Russia, Georges Bonnet of France, and Viscount Halifax of Britain had agreed to take the opportunity for negotiations to end the present deadlock over the extent of the alliance.

LONDON, May 3.—(P)—Prime Minister Chamberlain told the house of commons today that "the British government would be ready to consider proposals for the exchange of reciprocal assurances with the German government."

Denying that there were any grounds for charges that the British government had adopted a policy of "encircling Germany," Chamberlain said:

"What President Roosevelt proposed (in his April 14 peace appeal) and Herr Hitler offered (in his April 28 speech) was an exchange of assurances of non-aggression rather than a guarantee on a reciprocal basis, such as was recently given by the British government to Poland."

"The British government are certainly ready to consider proposals for the exchange of reciprocal assurances with the German government."

Chamberlain smiled and his answer was inaudible when he was asked by opposition Laborite Arthur Henderson:

"May I ask whether, in view of the importance of the statement which the prime minister has just made, the British government will take proper steps to secure that this statement is brought to the notice of the German government?"

The British cabinet was reported to have rejected Soviet Russia's proposal for a British-French-Russian guarantee to all Baltic and Black Sea states.

It was reported, however, that the cabinet decided to urge the Soviet government to "insure" British-French commitments to Poland and Rumania.

Prefers Separate Agreement

The cabinet was said to have taken this decision after Poland told Great Britain she preferred to make a separate agreement with Russia.

After reviewing separate contacts with Poland, Rumania, Finland, Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax was said by reliable sources to have recommended to the cabinet that Britain tell Russia:

1. That Britain could not enter into a triple entente guarantee of these states when Poland and Rumania did not want a flat guarantee by Russia without provision for them to specify when it would operate;

2. That Britain was eager to continue discussions with Russia with a view to eventual formation of a British-French-Russian alliance of mutual military aid.

Lord Halifax was said to have recommended that Britain urge Russia to declare she was prepared to support the British-French guarantees to Poland and Rumania "if, as and when" her support is desired.

It was expected that these observations on the Russian proposal would be sent to Sir William Seeds, British ambassador to Moscow, today or tomorrow. They had not been given to the Russian embassy by early afternoon, but Russian quarters maintained that if the position as outlined were still the British stand it was "not concrete enough."

The Russians visualized a specific, detailed agreement by which the three great powers would settle precisely how they are to help one another in the event of war.

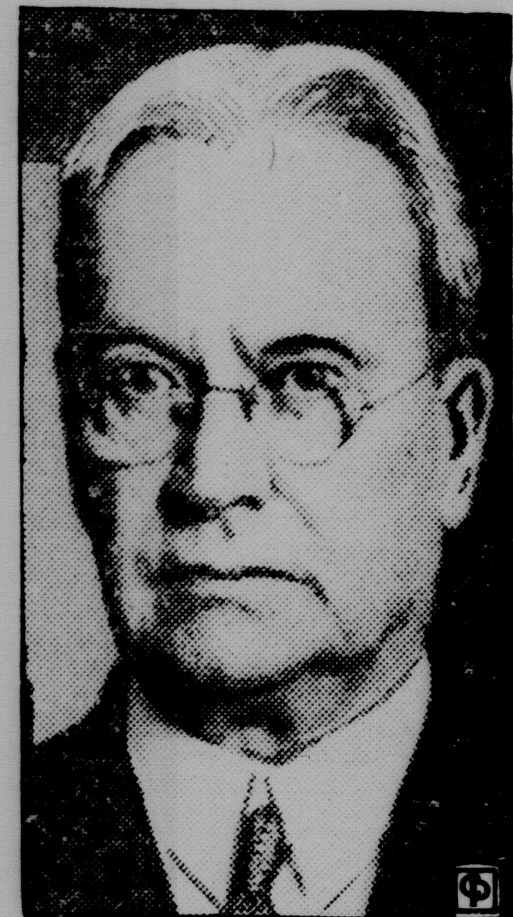

Despite the British stand, it was believed the negotiations would not be allowed to break down.

B. And P. W. Club To Elect Officers

Members of the Business and Professional Women's Club will hear an interesting talk on the national convention which will be in Kansas City in July, at the regular dinner meeting at Kueck's Tavern, Thursday night, at 6:30 o'clock. The speaker will be Miss Helen Templeman, of Kansas City. There will be a vocal solo by Mrs. B. H. Wenner, accompanied by Mrs. Fred Ross.

Prior to the program a short business meeting will be held, during which officers for the ensuing year will be elected.

'Stay In Session'

Senator Hiram W. Johnson, California Republican, who on Tuesday called on his senate colleagues to remain in session next month instead of adjourning as planned. He said it was the duty of congress to do so to guard the United States from being "eased" or "driven" into war.

Try To Show Mrs. LaMance Took Own Life

Defense Claims Poison Traces Were Evident

KEYTESVILLE, Mo., May 3.—(P)—Defense testimony that traces of poison were found in a bottle of fluid said to have been taken from the stomach of Mrs. Ella LaMance was admitted at the wife-murder trial of Dr. William F. LaMance today after the court first had ruled against its admission.

Circuit Judge James S. Rooney first sustained the state's objection to the evidence. The state contended the sequence in which the pickle jar containing the specimen progressed from Mrs. LaMance's body to the office of a clinical pathologist in Kansas City had not been clearly defined.

After the defense called Mrs. Asa Cross and Mrs. Everett L. Smith, wife of a Tina, Mo., osteopath, the contested testimony was introduced.

B. C. Morrow, a chemist at the general hospital in Kansas City, testified he found approximately one-hundredth of a grain of a virulent poison in six ounces of the fluid, he estimated one-eighth of a grain as a lethal dose, but said the amount found in a body seldom indicated how much had been taken.

He was followed to the stand by Dr. J. Frank Hall, Kansas City clinical pathologist, who employed the chemist and supervised his search for the poison.

Dr. Hall said "streaks frequently

Sets Trash Afire To See Trucks

The desire to see the fire trucks, caused 4-year-old Jimmy Phelps to set fire to a trash pile next to a small garage, about 2:10 o'clock this afternoon, at the home of his parents, 1213 South Lamine avenue.

The fire did about $25 damage to the small garage.

The property is owned by Pete Anderson, Mrs. E. Phelps, mother of the child said.

A switching, by the mother, administered to the boy did not keep him from still wanting to see the fire trucks and between scbs he said over and over again, he wanted to see the fire trucks. Jimmy promised Fire Chief Luck and his mother he wouldn't do it again.

Triumph By Symphony In Closing Its Season

The bonds of international goodwill prevailing in music seem best epitomized in American orchestra's playing "Finlandia" by Sibelius, presented by the Sedalia Symphony orchestra Tuesday night in its final 1938-39 concert, which was an impressive homecoming for Latonia Leece Barnett, guest soloist.

Mrs. Barnett and her husband, Paul V. Barnett, are former Sedalians who now reside in Kansas City. The concert was given in the auditorium of Smith-Cotton high school with Abe Rosenthal conducting.

Mrs. Barnett's lovely, clear soprano voice was the first heard in the aria "Pace, Pace, mio Dio" from Verdi's opera, "La Forza del destino," presented with the orchestra. In this, her personal charm and the warm, vibrant tones of her voice captivated the audience, one of the largest to attend a Sedalia symphony concert.

Neutral Bloc Is Now Aim Of Adolf Hitler

Anxious To Form It Comprising Six Nations

(By Louis P. Lochner)

BERLIN, May 3.—(P)—Chancellor Hitler today sought to form neutral bloc of at least six nations extending across northern Europe.

He offered identical non-aggression pacts to Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Finland, made similar approaches to Latvia and Estonia and there were strong reasons to believe that proposals of like nature had been submitted to a number of other European countries.

Lithuania was not included in the reichsfuehrer's projected northern combination because her relations to Germany are regulated by a separate treaty which contains non-aggression pledges.

One object of this diplomatic activity is to isolate Poland. Hitler already feels assured that Hungary has cast her lot with Germany, even to the extent of forsaking a historic friendship with Poland, as a consequence of the Berlin visit of the Hungarian premier and foreign minister last week.

Another objective of the present maneuver is to prevent further "encirclement," as the Germans call the British-French system of alliances.

A third object is said to be to show that the Nazi government is animated only by peaceful intentions.

Hopes were high in German quarters, meanwhile, that Poland would have to come to terms acceptable to Germany.

The press started at noon to bring reports from England and France indicating the British and French publics were criticizing the

Bill Signed On Defense Items

WASHINGTON, May 3.—(P)—President Roosevelt signed a bill today providing $153,000,000 immediately in appropriations and contract authorizations for "critical" defense items for the army, navy, coast guard and fleet expansion.

The house naval committee recommended, meanwhile, legislation to authorize expenditure of $6,660,000 for complete modernization of five battleships. The ships involved are the Tennessee, California, Colorado, Maryland and West Virginia.

The bill signed by the president will let the army buy and contract for $110,000,000 of tanks, anti-tank guns, semi-automatic rifles, gas masks, anti-aircraft guns, artillery and ammunition.

The navy's ship construction program gets $36,500,000, while $6,539,287 is included in appropriations and contract authorizations for seacoast defenses of the continental United States, Panama canal zone and insular possessions.

Relatively small sums to meet unforeseen expenses of additional government agencies brought the total of appropriations in the bill up to $162,319,059, while contract authorizations aggregated $46,801,000.

Among the smaller items in the bill were: $10,000,000 for grants to states for administration of unemployment compensation laws; $4,000,000 for the Parker power project in Arizona; $5,000,000 for administration of the 1937 sugar control act; and $450,000 for added personnel expenses of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

In another move to strengthen the nation's defense system, the navy ordered today first enlistments lengthened from 4 to 6 years.

No Counter Reply To Hitler Speech

WASHINGTON, May 3.—(P)—Administration recommendations for a new "cash and carry" neutrality law will constitute President Roosevelt's only reply to Adolf Hitler's reichstag speech. Authoritative quarters said today.

After some discussion among federal officials, it was learned, the president gave up the idea of making a "fireside chat" or issuing a statement in rebuttal.

This was confined by Stephen Early, a White House secretary. Early was asked whether the president would go on the air or send a special message to congress by way of counter-reply to Hitler.

"Many have been urging the president to say something but I don't see it," Early said, "in other words when you get a situation that seems to be a little better balanced, why tip the scales."

Emphasize Tax Relief Demand Ouster Move

U. S. Chamber Of Commerce Desires Flow Of Capital

WASHINGTON, May 3.—(P)—United States Chamber of Commerce officials emphasized today their demands for tax relief as speaker after speaker at the annual meeting blamed New Deal policies for the failure of capital to flow freely into industry.

President George H. Davis outlined in a prepared speech seven objectives of the chamber:

"1. Remove tax deterrents which discourage investment in both established and new enterprises.

"2. Abandon unwise public spending policy.

"3. Modify laws relating to the issuing and marketing of private securities.

"4. Discontinue government competition in private enterprises.

"5. Abandon monetary manipulations and modify the policy of artificially cheap money.

"6. Modify banking laws to permit greater freedom of private initiative in underwriting security issues.

"7. Discontinue unnecessary investigations which create apprehension and impose needless burdens upon industry and trade."

Once a "more stable" public policy is assured, Davis said, business itself will facilitate the flow of capital into productive enterprises.

Davis' speech was the first in a round table discussion devoted to the problem of getting idle funds to work. Other suggestions, as outlined in advance by the speakers, were:

Robert M. Hanes of Winston Salem, N. C., first vice president of the American Bankers association, declared existing private and public credit facilities were ample to meet the needs of the nation.

"Venturesome capital needs to be encouraged to risk investment in enterprise," he said. "Recovery waits upon that."

The greatest efficiency in production throughout the depression has been and continues to be in heavy goods industries.

"The constitution and other durable goods industries have been and continue to be major sources of unemployment. These are the industries that depend on the willingness of investors to risk investment. This they will not do except in an environment of encouragement conducive to profit. This environment can be provided only by government."

Talks To Club On Industries

Elsworth Green, secretary of Chamber of Commerce, spoke on the business outlook for Sedalia, in an address at the regular luncheon meeting of the Lions club, held today at the Kueck's Tavern. He told of the industries and the government agencies which the Chamber of Commerce with the cooperation of the civic organizations were trying to secure for the city, and what they would mean to it.

Jack Jolly, president of the club, reported on the arrangements for the Birch The Magician Show which will be offered Friday evening at Convention Hall under the auspices of the Lions club. The Smith-Cotton band will give a concert under the direction of J. T. Alexander preceding the show. The band and high school choruses are helping in the sale of tickets.

C. E. Morrison, regional director of the Boy Scouts, was a guest.

Favors War Only In Attack Danger

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Rep. Martin J. Kennedy (D-NY) today introduced a resolution to have congress "notify the world that it will not declare war on any country unless the United States is directly subject to attack and the Monroe Doctrine is actually violated."

Grant For Aged Later In Week

WASHINGTON, May 3.—(P)—Social security board officials said today the May grant for Missouri's old age assistance would be made later this week.

Checks for the state's 75,000 old age assistance recipients were not issued May 1 by Missouri officials because the government's matching funds had not been allocated.

Report Against Ouster Move

Commissioner Gives It On Cole County Official

JEFFERSON CITY, May 3.—(P)—Special Commissioner Perry G. Storts today recommended that the state supreme court refuse to oust Carl F. Wymore as prosecuting attorney of Cole county.

"The commissioner finds that the evidence failed to establish the respondent (Wymore) had actual or personal knowledge of the violations complained of," the commissioner said in his report.

"The commissioner is therefore of the opinion that the issues in this case should be decided in favor of the respondent Wymore x x x that it should by the court be declared that respondent has not forfeited his office; that delators prayer the said office be declared vacant be denied and the commissioner so recommends to the court."

The Wymore ouster was filed by Attorney General Roy McKittick more than a year ago because McKittick declared Wymore had "failed and refused" to take part in the state-directed drive against slot machines.

McKittick declared Wymore "failed and refused" to prosecute slot machine operators despite evidence gathered by the state highway patrol.

Brought Broad Powers
The original suit brought a broad opinion from the supreme court which gave the attorney general wide powers to police most elective county officials of the state and bring ouster action against them should he deem them guilty of official neglect or duty.

With that opinion in his favor, McKittick went ahead with the presentation of evidence against the plump young Cole county prosecutor. Storts, whose home is in Marshall, heard the evidence last fall.

State witnesses said highway patrolmen had gathered evidence of slot machine operations in Cole county and presented it to Wymore, but that the troopers did not sign a formal complaint. Neither did Wymore.

The information of the highway patrol would have placed on Wymore "the burden of doing some detective work on his own account, which practice has been frequently condemned by the courts of this state," the commissioner's report said.

"Was Wymore guilty of malpractice, misconduct or nonfeasance as caused him to forfeit his office when he failed to sign and swear on his official oath to complaints charging felonies, x x Wymore having no personal knowledge of the offenses reported?" the commissioner asked—then answered himself:

County prosecutors have the right to use their own discretion in filing criminal charges. Bringing of such charges is not an obligation of the prosecutor and that his failure to do so is not grounds for removal from office.

Trying To Get Conservation Offices Here

C. of C. Hopes To Have New Agency Located In Sedalia

The Sedalia Chamber of Commerce is endeavoring to get the newly created offices of the Missouri Soil Conservation Service brought to Sedalia, it was announced Tuesday night at a meeting of the Sedalia Round Table Council in the Chamber of Commerce office.

This office will govern all the C. C. C. soil erosion camps in Missouri. Ten locations suitable for the new offices have been sent to K. G. Harmon, of Columbia, for consideration. According to Ellsworth Green, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, there are fifteen high-salaried employees in this new office, created by the federal and state government.

The Round Table Council also announced they will circulate petitions to get the 3,500 signatures of eligible city voters needed before the city council will call a special bond issue election for the construction of an armory and community building here.

A special meeting will be called after the petitions are drawn up and they will be distributed to the members who will get the names.

An option is held by the council on property on East Fourth street, across from the postoffice building, it was announced by Charles Van Dyne, chairman of the subcommittee. The new building will be built there if a two-thirds majority is received in the election, he said.

Barrymore In Suit On Wife

NEW YORK, May 3.—(P)—John Barrymore, the veteran actor, today brought suit against his wife, Elaine Barrie, for separation, and at the same time named her and two other persons as defendants in an action for an accounting of an estimated $300,000 of his funds.

The defendants in addition to Miss Barrie—who last Saturday left Barrymore's touring comedy at St. Louis—are her mother, Mrs. Edna Jacobs, and David Fisher, described in the suit as confidential financial adviser to the two women.

The actor's complaint alleged that the three had conspired "maliciously" to defraud him of funds which he claimed had been put in their hands to purchase certain property for him.

They were given power, the suit claimed, to draw on three bank accounts, and subsequently bought a Hollywood home and "wrongfully" entered the title in Mrs. Barrymore's name.

Plans were made to have a booth in the Shorthorn barn at the Missouri State Fair grounds at the coming annual state fair. Seating arrangements for 50 to 60 will be made, and moving pictures of interest to shorthorn breeders will be shown.

Rumania Would Settle Debt

WASHINGTON, May 3.—(P)—Rumania presented the United States with a formal note today offering settlement of its war debt of about $64,000,000 to the American government.

Rumanian Minister Radu Irimescu presented the note from his government to Secretary Hull.

The state and treasury department will study the offer to determine what recommendations should be made to congress in regard to it. President Roosevelt probably will send the note to congress in due course with his comments.

Details of the Rumanian offer are expected to be announced by the state department later. It was understood the offer consists of a fixed payment over a number of years on the basis of a scaling down of the total outstanding, which includes back interest as well as principal.

Mrs. Schneider May Inherit Valued Stock

She Accepts A Suicide Theory As To Husband

KANSAS CITY, May 3.—(P)—Edward L. Schneider, business aide of Boss T. J. Pendergast, calmly penned two suicide notes last Thursday morning at the Ready Mixed Concrete company, Carl Braun, office manager of the concern said today.

Thursday was Schneider's 46th birthday and the next day he revealed to a federal grand jury financial transactions of the political leader who was indicted for income tax evasion Saturday.

The notes were found in Schneider's sedan, parked on a Missouri river bridge, last Monday and officers are searching for him.

Braun said Schneider was in the office of another official of the company, writing the notes, when he walked in to ask about a business matter.

"I walked behind him and as I did I remarked he needed some air. The office seemed stuffy. I opened the window and as I turned and looked down at what he was doing I saw his personal stationery on the desk, and his hand stopped at the last word he had written. At the top of the letter I saw the salutation: 'Dear Phil.'"

The note was for Phil Abry, brother-in-law of Schneider. When photostatic copies of the notes found in the car were published, Braun first realized he saw Schneider writing them.

Mrs. Schneider May Get Stocks

KANSAS CITY, May 3.—(P)—Mrs. Edward L. Schneider, whose husband vanished after giving testimony on which a federal grand jury indicted Democratic Boss Thomas J. Pendergast, is expected to inherit valuable stock in Pendergast companies if Schneider's death is established.

The stock paid dividends of $26,600 in 1935 and $33,175 in 1936.

Mrs. Schneider, reported in a state of collapse at her home today, was quoted by friends as accepting a suicide theory. Her

Taylor States Pendergast Is Still Friend

JEFFERSON CITY, May 3.—(P)—Rep. John D. Taylor (D), Keytesville, in a dramatic outburst against Gov. Lloyd C. Stark's Kansas City police bill, asserted today "if the charges against Thomas J. Pendergast are true, he is still my friend and he needs my friendship more than ever."

"May God give it to me never to turn my back in the days of his trial."

The veteran member's speech came in debate on the first amendment offered today as the house renewed its consideration of the bill for perfection.

The amendment, sent up by Rep. V. E. Phillips (D), Kansas City, would make the state control police system expire May 1, 1943. The house defeated Phillips amendment 87 to 51. A four-year limitation proposal of Phillips was beaten yesterday, 75 to 61.

The house sat absolutely quiet as Taylor, mentioned as a possible Democratic candidate for governor or attorney general in 1940, made his powerful speech. Applause came from both friends and foes of the bill as he finished.

Taylor said it had been reported he would make no speeches on the measure because "my idol has fallen."

"Of course that meant Thomas J. Pendergast (indicated Kansas City organization leader)," he said.

"For 30 years that man has been my friend. I'm not influenced in any degree because of his misfortunes."

Contention of Prejudice
"But that has nothing to do with my position on this bill. We're swept away by prejudice and ignorance on this matter. We're seeking to arrogate to ourselves the right to tell 40,000 people how they should be governed—a privilege never intended by the framers of our government."

The Chariton county member started by announcing he opposed Phillips' amendment.

"If a bill is bad, leave it bad,"

Garlic-Parsley an Aid In HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE
Medical reports say that Garlic-Parsley concentrate has a double action in reducing high blood pressure. First, it tends to relax tightened arteries. Second, it checks or inhibits decomposition of waste matter in the bowels, a contributory cause of high blood pressure. To get concentrated garlic and parsley in odorless, tasteless form, ask for ALLIMIN. These tablets, used at regular intervals, aid in reducing blood pressure and relieving headache and dizziness caused by excessively high readings. To learn what raises your blood pressure and for medical treatment consult your doctor. ALLIMIN is for sale by all druggists. Large box, 50c. Special economy size, $1.00. M. P. Traffic Manager Dies After Retiring

ST. LOUIS, May 3.—(P)—Jacob Grant Hollenbeck, 72, died here Tuesday, just 24 hours after he retired as assistant passenger traffic manager for the Missouri Pacific railroad.

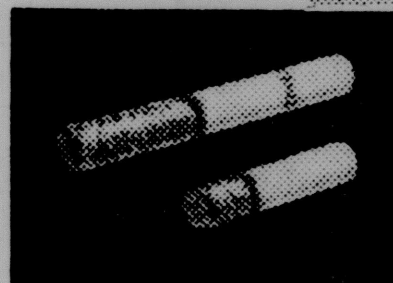

He is survived by his widow and a son, Clifton Webb Hollenbeck who as Clifton Webb is a well-known Broadway musical comedy star.

Funeral services were held here this afternoon, with burial to be at Circleville, Ohio.

SEEING IS BELIEVING!

It's smart, popular... a striking way to compare cigarettes... AMERICAN AIRLINES PILOT GIVES A DEMONSTRATION...

SMOKERS... everywhere... are comparing cigarettes by just watching them burn! At the right, O. J. Brown, pilot for American Airlines, shows how one leading cigarette, compared to others, burns much slower! It's a C-A-M-E-L! Camels win in this comparison by a wide margin. The reason: Costlier tobaccos... carefully blended... in a cigarette made to burn slowly, completely and smoke cool, mild!

Recently, a group of scientists made this interesting laboratory test on a bigger scale. 16 of the largest-selling cigarette brands were tested impartially. CAMELS BURNED SLOWER THAN ANY OTHER BRAND TESTED—25% SLOWER THAN THE AVERAGE TIME FOR THE OTHER BRANDS. (Camels were remarkably consistent. Cigarettes of some brands smoked twice as fast as others right from the same pack.) IN THE SAME TEST, CAMELS HELD THEIR ASH FAR LONGER THAN THE AVERAGE TIME FOR ALL OTHER BRANDS.

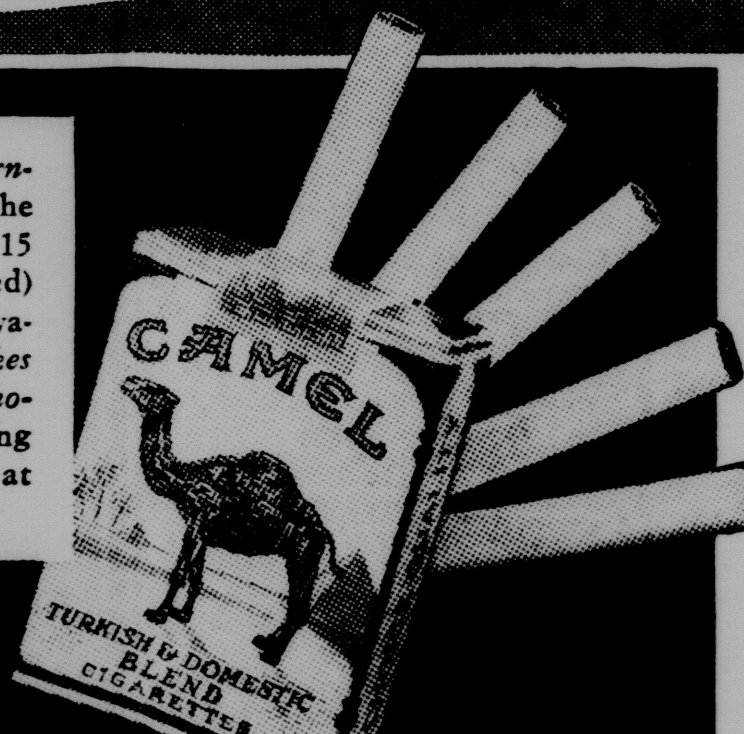

Camel is the cigarette of costlier tobaccos... cool, mellow, more appealing in taste, always so uniformly delightful!

"There it is again," veteran pilot O. J. Brown exclaims to a group of friends, "...the Camel is burning slower than the other cigarette. To me, that's a perfect explanation of why Camels smoke so cool and mild. It must have a lot to do with the delicate, pleasing taste of Camels, too!"

SMOKING IS BELIEVING!

Camel's slower burning (compared to the average time of the 15 other brands tested) gives you the equivalent of 5 extra smokes per pack! You economize while enjoying smoking pleasure at its best!

TRY Camels for a really thrilling smoking experience... fragrance, ripe taste, mildness! Camels give everything you want in a smoke... including ECONOMY!

Camels have more tobacco by weight than the average of the 15 other brands tested. Besides, Camels burn slower than any of those other brands. And by burning 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands, Camels give you the equivalent of 5 extra smokes per pack!

Camels give you even more for your money when you count in Camel's finer, more expensive tobaccos. Buy shrewdly! Buy Camels... America's first choice for a luxury smoke every smoker can afford!

Fifteen In Derby Race Saturday

Johnstown Still The Favorite While Technician Is Next

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 3.—Whittled down from an original list of 115 by the sheer demands this mile-and-a-quarter grind makes on a horse, a field of 15 of the best three-year-old colts in the racing world loomed today for Saturday's 65th running of the Kentucky Derby—and four of those 15 were still listed as doubtful starters.

That was the consensus all over Louisville today as the blue grass trotted out its best bib and tucker to welcome the arriving multitudes, and the first indication of the annual price skyrocket were felt.

With Johnstown still the even-money favorite, it became apparent that the betting fraternity wasn't going to be caught napping by the current No. 1 dark-horse candidate, Valinda Farm's big brown Viscounty. Just another horse "Named Joe" barely 24 hours ago, this game son of the porter not only got his chance to go to the post by taking yesterday's Derby trial, but his odds to win the necktie of roses Saturday were knocked flat from 100-1 to something like 15 for your dollar in the latest quotations.

His was the only apparent change in odds from yesterday's one-mile prep, leaving Herbert M. Woolf's rusky Inco colt, Technician, still second choice to Johnstown at 3-1, despite the setback Viscounty handed him by the width of his bit in the trial. W. L. Brann's suddenly-supported Challdon; William Ziegler, Jr.'s "question mark," El Chico; J. H. Whitney's surprising Heather Broom; Mrs. B. Franzheim's budding Khalpa Clown; W. E. Boeding's Porter's Mite and Joe W. Brown's T. M. Dorsett, a pair regarded strictly as sprinters; Mrs. Ethel V. Mars No Competition and J. W. Bell's sturdy Steel Heels were the others rated more or less certainties to step to the barrier in the $50,000 gallop.

Starting today, the big batches of incoming folks were reaching town. Hotels were rapidly filling up, and at a mere $25-per-day-and-sign-up-till-Derby-day, too. You drove along streets under hundreds of flapping, colorful banners. What with the belles, bourbon and bets, it got the most blasé big-townners.

'Ball' Season Opens Sunday

Eldon Merchants To Oppose Local Club At Liberty Park

The Eldon Merchants will come to Sedalia Sunday to open the baseball season at Liberty park, meeting the Sedalia Merchants. The change to the Eldon club was made after the Garvella team of St. Louis had to postpone their game because of a league game that club is playing on the Sunday date.

Eldon is not a new club for the Sedalia fans. It has appeared in this city several times and last season the team put up a record of which it is proud, twenty-six games won and three lost.

Manager Vincent Seigel has been informed the same players which played with the visiting Merchants are the same players who will be seen in action against the Sedalia Merchants.

On the mound for Eldon will be Helms while catching will be Allen.

Seigel is still at loss as to who he will start on the mound against the Eldon club. He has five pitchers to pick from: Sullivan, Middleton, Horner, Niece and Yeager, while Summers will start behind the plate on the receiving end.

Exceptionally good practice has been had the past two weeks with two exhibition games sandwiched in. The team as a whole looks fairly good and Sedalia should be well represented in baseball this season.

Gehrig Goes To Bench Due To Weak Legs

Famed First Sacker Of Yankees In Voluntary Retirement

NEW YORK, May 3.—Lou Gehrig sits on the Yankee bench for the first time in nearly 14 years and watches another, younger man play first base for the three-time world champions.

It must have been a cruelly hard decision for the old "Iron Horse" to make, when he told Manager Joe McCarthy he was ready to call it a career after 2,130 consecutive games. There was another wrench for both of them yesterday when McCarthy wrote "Dahlgren, 1b" on a slip of paper and pinned it to the dugout. But you can bet they both are happier today.

There had been a painful ordeal for both men, fading player and sentimental, grateful manager, from the day the Yankees started training at St. Petersburg. Gehrig, one of the greatest stars the game has known, wanted to keep his record intact for one more season.

He tried with a fearful intensity to get the bounce back in his 35-year-old legs and to regain the batting eye that for 13 years drove in more than 100 runs each season and five times led the American league in that vital department.

But even in the Florida sun it was all too evident Lou finally had shot both barrels. A winter of complete idleness, spent mostly in his fishing boat off Long Island, had stiffened up his muscles to where they couldn't respond again.

He gloomed about the dugout, and his teammates didn't know what to say to him. They were pulling for him, but ball players never try to offer sympathy to a mate who is in a slump.

"I should have started getting in shape about two months before camp opened," he said the other day. "Then I would have been even with the others when they reported. But I'll get going."

Although McCarthy, one of the most astute of managers, must have realized almost from the first day of training that Gehrig wouldn't make the grade, he refused to admit it. It is doubtful Lou would be out of there now if he had left the decision to McCarthy. His voluntary retirement was a noble gesture on the big fellow's part.

Though Babe Dahlgren made a brilliant start as Gehrig's successor yesterday, it is probable the "iron horse" will be back in there off and on as the season stretches out and the weather warms up.

"I'll let him take a rest and then when he is feeling better I'll put him back in to see how he goes," McCarthy said. "Mean-

'The Missing Guest' Mystery Comedy, at Uptown Today - With New Cowgirl Feature

"The Missing Guest" with Constance Moore, William Lundigan and Paul Kelly, is a picture in which giggles, tragedy, comedy and tense situations follow one another so swiftly that the spectator is emotionally exhausted as the final scenes unroll. But it is all so logical and carefully worked out, and the performances of players so outstanding that one can only come to the conclusion that here is something new in the treatment of the "crime-mystery" story. Second feature at the Uptown Today and Thursday is "Water Rustlers," with Dorothy Page, the new singing cowgirl sensation. This is another "different" western, with pretty Dorothy Page singing and shooting her way through the traps set by the border bad men.

Dad's never the "Old Man" to him

Why should he be? What is there about this father that is old? His face may be lined, yes—with the crinkles of good humor. His eyes have seen much, but they're merry—mirrors of a youthful heart. How did he get that way? He didn't! He stayed that way... youthful and unafraid... unskilled in the aimless art of worrying. He remembered that nothing worth while is given away—excepting Time—and Opportunity of which every American has an abundant share. At all costs, he kept the spirit of youth—Confidence, Courage, Vision, Action. It worked for him. It kept him young. It made America.

Good-Looking House Frock Designed for Large Women

By CAROL DAY

This is such a good-looking dress that it shouldn't spend all of its time working round the house. Omit the pockets, and Pattern 8463 will be smart in street fabrics when you dash out for last-minute shopping or drive to the station to pick up guests.

The belt, buttoned in the back, makes the waistline look neat and trim, and at the same time it is easy to work in. The unbroken line of the front adds to the slenderizing affect, too. Armholes are comfortably ample. That square neckline is a pleasing change from the usual deep V, and it is cut to a dip in the front so that it won't make your face look wide. For this design, choose gingham, linen or lawn.

Pattern 8463 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52. Size 38 requires 4 3/4 yards of 35-inch material; 2 1/2 yards of braid.

United States and Canada, Best of Good Neighbors

To paraphrase Master Shakespeare, some countries achieve amity with their neighbors, some are born friendly, and some have a peaceful relationship thrust upon them.

But in the relations between the United States and Canada, both are fortunate in being bound by all three conditions. We have achieved mutually cordial relations by 100 years of their conscious development, we are born naturally friendly and in key with one another, and our geographical and economic relationships thrust us one upon the other in so emphatic a way that any but the most friendly relations would be ridiculous.

Often we take this relationship for granted, so accustomed to it have we become. We strive to improve relations with Mexico, Central America and South America, which is eminently proper. But we are apt to take Canada for granted, and she us.

We seldom think about the interweaving of destiny that is drawing irresistibly together the two great countries. When President Roosevelt gave renewed assurance that the United States stood ready to defend Canada against any foreign invasion, nobody was much surprised. He only said what everybody knew would be the case in practice anyway.

Obviously neither country could feel safe if a foreign force got a foothold in the other. What Pacific war could be imagined that would not concern Canada equally with the United States? International affairs, especially those of the last 20 years, have been putting the two countries, even more emphatically than they have put all the American countries, into the same boat.

It would not be at all surprising to see Canada some day a participant in Pan-American conferences, from which her status as an empire dominion has hitherto barred her.

But we also sometimes forget that the trade between the United States and Canada is 3 per cent of all world trade, and greater than that between any other two countries. While U. S. exports to China in 1937 were under 50 millions, Canada was taking more than 500 million in American goods. She was meanwhile sending back about 400 millions. And this apparently unfavorable balance was more than made up by U. S. tourist traffic going into Canada, estimated for 1938 at 150 millions.

One-third of all U. S. foreign long-term investments in Canada, nearly four billions, but that is no one-way affair, for Canada has invested at least a billion in the United States.

So closely interwoven a relationship as this needs no political ties, and no formal alliances to emphasize that the two great countries are growing closer as each year passes, and that in respect to certain phases of foreign relations they are, and must be, one.

What goes on dept.: In order to fight the menace of dictatorship, many anti-dictatorship states are becoming dictatorships.

Two crew members of a U. S. boat went to the brig when they shouted: "Down with Mussolini!" That's not so serious. What if they had yelled: "Down with the ship!"

Toys For The World

The American toy industry has for the first time achieved a position of leadership in providing the world's playthings.

Buyers recently assembled in New York for the annual Toy Fair confirmed this position; 36 came from Canada, six from South Africa, six from Holland, four from England, two from France, two from South America, and others from Denmark, Sweden and the Canal Zone.

Last year the dollar value of toys exported actually exceeded for the first time the value of toys imported, whereas in the past the United States usually imported far more. Germany is too busy making guns to bother to make toys, and boycotts by individuals against German and Japanese products have cut down their imports here.

Meanwhile, by ingenuity and quality, American makers have been surmounting their handicaps in the higher American cost of production. And it is hard to think of anything better to make and sell to the world than toys to bring joy to its children.

Plant Something

Any person who, about this time of year, doesn't plant something, is cheating himself out of one of the simple pleasures of life that anyone can enjoy.

You have no farm? Very well, there's the back yard. No back yard? Very well, there are window-boxes and the strip between sidewalk and porch? Not even these? Well, there's always a flower-pot, cheap and undemanding.

It needn't be a field of wheat or a formal garden or a boxwood border. It needn't be a broad lawn or a clump of lilacs or a bed of pansies.

A couple of nasturtiums in a pot will do the same thing for any man or woman—provide a link between them and the earth that bore them, and by putting them in a position to help create life and beauty which might not have existed otherwise, bring them as near to God as is permitted to sinful man in a naughty world.

Bing Crosby took precautions after kidnapping threats against his children. It might have been different if it had been one of his horses.

A Kansas fellow went into a hole to retrieve his hat, which had been whisked off by the wind. He couldn't get out for four hours. And, at that, he probably had been wearing the same topper for the last 10 years.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — When the complete story is told of how Hitler and Mussolini outsmarted the democracies, one of the most fantastic chapters will be the Roosevelt Administration's recognition of Franco, precisely when Roosevelt was urging more international backbone against Hitler and when the dictators were menacing Gibraltar via France's forces in Spain.

Real fact is that on Tuesday of the week that Franco was recognized, Spanish Ambassador de los Rios called on the President and received definite assurances that recognition would not even be considered until he came back from Warm Springs.

De los Rios blithely left the President, reached out his hand to feed the squirrels as he passed through the White House grounds. Four days later, the State Department had recognized Franco and the once serene de los Rios had joined the growing ranks of political exiles in the U. S. A.

Between these two dates some interesting things happened, hitherto secret. One was that representatives of the International Telephone and Telegraph Company and of the National City Bank, both having important properties in Spain, were waiting on the Spanish border trying to get in. And Franco refused to let them in.

He refused to admit them until he got U. S. recognition. The I. T. and T. owns the entire telephone system of Spain and it had visions of this huge investment falling into the hands of Hitler. German technicians already had begun to repair the exchanges and take over partial operation.

So the State Department, under Roosevelt, acted as it did under Hoover and Coolidge, and moved to protect American property. Recognition of Franco was considered the way to secure it.

However, in view of Roosevelt's promise to de los Rios, it was embarrassing to recognize Franco immediately. Especially embarrassing was the fact that de los Rios still remained in the Spanish Embassy. After all, the State Department had just finished encouraging the Czech Minister to stand his ground and defy the Germans when they wanted to occupy his legation.

But at this point the Spanish Ambassador neatly played into the State Department's hands.

Ambassador de los Rios is a most distinguished professor — fine beard, gracious manner, idealistic, but naive and timid. The State Department liked him because he was timid. He never caused any trouble, took little part in the campaign to lift the Spanish embargo, actually went to Spain to bring back some of his womenfolk when the campaign was at its height.

So when a minor official of the State Department called in the Ambassador and dropped a hint that de los Rios might find Franco's new Ambassador knocking on the Embassy door one fine morning, de los Rios was aghast. The very thought of such embarrassment was too much. He hastened back to his Embassy and surrendered it immediately.

Other members of the Embassy, horrified, called him a traitor to his beard. Next day, the State Department, able to argue that the Spanish Ambassador had already recognized the non-existence of his own government by fleeing, recognized Franco.

If de los Rios had remained, as did the Czech Minister, he might have been there yet.

Another secret factor also entered into the situation. Franco was desperate to secure American recognition in order to get control of the Spanish gold supply believed to be in the United States. This was part of the deal arranged, strangely enough, through the connivance of the British, by which General Casado should seize control of the Loyalist Government and then surrender to the Rebels.

In the United States, the Spanish Embassy had about $2,000,000 worth of airplanes which it was unable to ship because of the embargo. They were on the docks in New York and Wilmington, Del., and when it looked certain that the Loyalist Government would fall, its agents sought permission to sell them to Russia.

Speed was necessary to keep this windfall from going to Franco, thus directly or indirectly aiding his dictator allies. But when permission to make the sale was asked, Joe Green, head of the State Department Munitions Board, in effect refused. He placed enough obstacles in the way to make it virtually impossible.

So the matter was taken over Green's head to the President by certain members of the Cabinet. Finally the airplanes were sold, chiefly to Mexico.

All this was done well before Franco was recognized. However, there remained in American banks a large amount from the sale, and this was one reason Franco was so anxious to secure quick recognition.

By this time, Ambassador de los Rios had split with his old chief, Premier Negrin, and had joined the Casado forces. However, other Spanish representatives in the United States remained loyal, and they, not de los Rios, controlled the money.

Their proposal was to use the balance of funds to care for Spanish refugees in England, France and the United States. They were willing to turn the money over to the State Department or any American agency to be used for this purpose, arguing that Spanish refugees would become a charge upon the rest of the world and that the American public would be appealed to help take care of them.

So it was much better they contended for the United States to cooperate in keeping these funds out of Franco's hands and in the hands of a committee for the relief of refugees. Certain State Department officials were approached on this, but they were indifferent.

So Franco was recognized. Just before recognition was granted, however, Loyalist representatives who had broken away from the benign and timid de los Rios managed to transfer the Spanish cash supply to more cooperative countries.

SERIAL STORY

BORDER ADVENTURE

BY OREN ARNOLD

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday: From a restaurant proprietor, Betty learns of Barro's ranch where he keeps smugglers, and of other plans. But she knows she might be killed at once if her identity is discovered.

CHAPTER XVI

THE morning daily from El Paso was as usual on the streets of Juarez at dawn, and as usual Betty Mary bought a copy when she came down to breakfast. She had even acquired a pet newsboy by now, a dirty but likeable "muchacho" who came into the hotel dining room. The page 1 banner headline this morning instantly caught her attention:

Border Patrol Cracks

"Submarine" Dope Smuggling

She left her grapefruit and mint leaves untouched and read every word of the article, which ran more than two columns.

About 6 p. m. the day before, so the story ran, two laborers in dirty overalls, carrying wrenches and other tools, had begun working on the railroad trestle near the Rio Grande river in El Paso's smelter district. Apparently a section of track near the squalid adobe home of one Ernesto Peralta needed repairing. Many cars passed on the highway there, trains roared over, life flowed on normally. The laborers kept busy into the night, tightening bolts and making general "repairs."

At 10 p. m., one of the laborers, who was really Inspector Hope Kildare of the U. S. Border Patrol, serving temporarily on the customs force, told his fellow laborer, Inspector Sheridan Starr, that "something" was leaving the muddy waters of the Rio Grande river.

"It looks like a dog, or maybe a burlap sack, Sherry, see," Hope murmured, still wielding a large wrench.

"Sure as shootin'," Sherry agreed. "It just crawled out of the water, and it's slipping right up to Peralta's kitchen door!"

"Keep on acting, but let's edge down nearer the ground. Maybe we can make a run for it."

IN 10 minutes they were quietly tightening a bolt on one of the trestle standards, apparently deep in their work. But they were on the ground, several feet nearer the Peralta shack. Other people were constantly passing within a few feet of them on the road and sidewalk as usual in this industrial district of the city. Their presence could excite no suspicion.

"There's another one!" Sherry whispered presently. "Keep fooling with the bolt, though."

"It's a sack, all right," Hope agreed in a moment. It's being pulled by a wire or something. Let's make a run for it, huh?"

"Okay. You dive for the bag. I'll go in the front door."

In that instant they dropped their tools and ran.

Hope pounced on the muddy bag as would a dog. It was, indeed, a bulky object, about two feet long and half as thick, and was dragged by a wire. It was lumpy and hard. Sheridan Starr burst into the front door of the shack with no ceremony.

"Manos arriba!" He commanded. "Los federales aqui!"

Four men in the Peralta kitchen-dining room were on hands and knees. They turned to him in consternation.

Instantly one drew a pistol and fired it, but Sherry had kept in motion. He grabbed the first object at hand—a chair.

Crash!

It swung in a terrific arc, floored one man and knocked another cold. The pistol skittered across the floor.

Hope burst in then and a few quick fist blows gave him and Sherry mastery of the situation. All the fight was gone out of the four men, and it was easy to tie them with strands of their own wire.

When the prisoners had been taken to jail for formal booking, newspaper reporters, of course, were eager for the details.

"Why, uh, this Peralta," Sheridan explained, to their questioning, "he works for the city as a street cleaner. And he began showing signs of more affluence than his salary justified. We got suspicious of him, watched his shack, saw him operating his submarine. That's all."

"They had the cocaine sealed inside tin buckets, and these inside the burlap bags. Is that right, Mr. Starr?"

"Yes. The bags were weighted with rocks, so they would slide on the river bottom. That way nobody had to show themselves. The bags could be pulled right to Peralta's door from some bushes across the Rio. He's probably been doing it for months. Normally nobody would notice it, especially at night."

"Who was sending it across from the other side?" the reporter asked.

"Well, probably Luis Barro. His dope is always wrapped in the same kind of little capsules, so it can be easily retailed. I'm sorry Barro wasn't in the bag himself."

BETTY MARY read with so much interest that her coffee and her hot cakes became cold. Then she hurriedly ate them lest she arouse suspicion. When she had finished she took her sketching pad and pencils and went out on the street. She wanted to sit in the plaza sunshine and think.

For one thing, she was discovering more and more that Washington headquarters could not possibly relate what tremendous odds were faced by the federal officers along the Mexican frontier.

Even with the friendly Mexican government co-operating as best it could with Uncle Sam, such elusive, clever swindlers and smugglers as Luis Barro could function virtually unmolested. The boundary is too long, with too few men to guard it. Topography, climate, and general circumstances are utterly foreign to Washington's knowledge and way of thinking.

Betty Mary told herself now.

Toward mid-morning she went to The Place of the Sleeping Monk. It was the hour when most likely to be free of customers, and her fat and sociable friend Pablo could talk to his heart's content. He was excited when she arrived, but fortunately not suspicious.

"They break off the submarine!" he declared hoarsely to her. "You have seen the paper, senorita? You have seen? Don Luis—he is black with anger, that one! He come here and snap at everybody. He is danger when is so!"

"Goodness!" Betty Mary was truly alarmed.

"It was make him most money of all, that submarine. He will surely have that Peralta kill when he leave the American jail. Peralta he get the great head. He make money, so he show off, half Los federales, they watch everything. They see him. Now Don Luis fix. He may have the officers kill too, for his revenge. You will see."

"Don Luis is—very angry about it?" she probed sympathetically.

"Si senorita! You alone might comfort him, who can say? But he is very rash. He have the big business, and it grows—so!" Pablo indicated with spreading arms that it was expanding, whatever the business was.

"Getting much bigger, no doubt?" Betty Mary tried not to appear too interested. But she was striving also for every tiny detail.

"Seguro si! Is great number, nex' time. Estranjeros. If los federales work hard to break his narcoetek business, Don Luis he is smart, he is change to estranjeros again. You see, senorita? Is smart man. First one, then the other one. Keeps los federales on the quick jump. He is outsmart them, hah!"

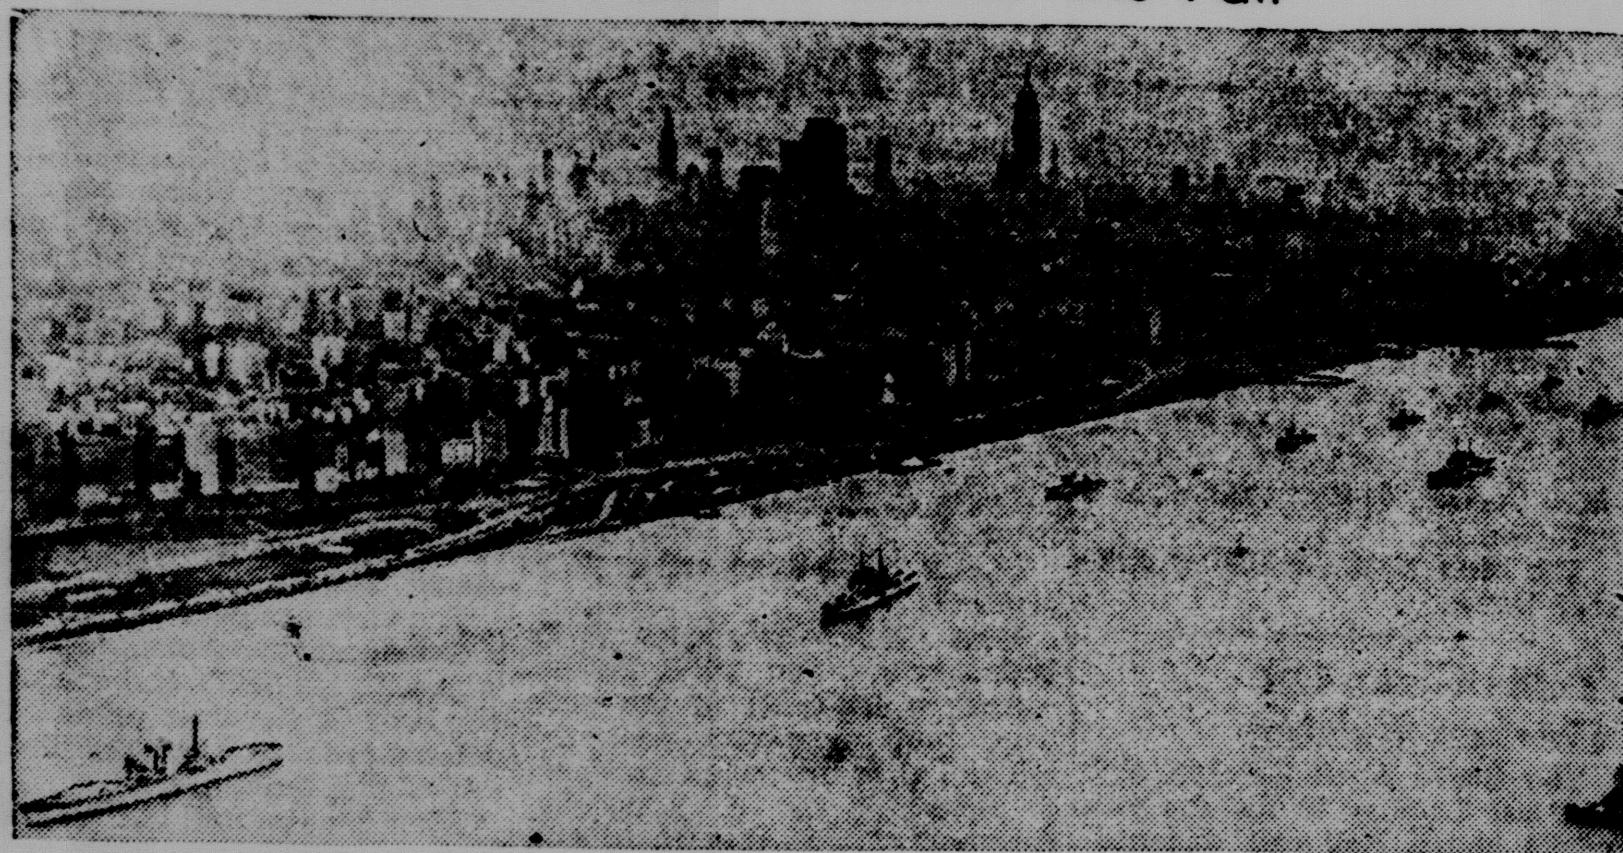

"We must help him with this—uh—next big job," she encouraged.

"Si. He is black angry today. Now he is make the small army of his own. He would like to kill los federales with his own hands."

(To Be Continued)

"There's nothing I can do about it! That's YOUR side of the family popping out."

Slight Drop To Grain Market

By FRANKLIN MULLIN
CHICAGO, May 3.—(AP)—wheat prices sagged more than a cent a bushel but then recovered part of the loss in a closing rally.
Lower prices at Liverpool and scattered rains in the grain belt, with promise of more, induced selling. However, millers reported some improvement in flour business, particularly in the spring wheat zone. Chicago crop experts predicted a winter wheat harvest of $538,000,000 bushels compared with $57,000,000 last season.
Wheat closed 3/4 to 1/2 cent lower than yesterday, July 72 1/2 to 72 3/4, September 72 1/2 to 72 3/4; corn 1/4 to 1/2 cent down, July 50 1/2, September 51 1/2 to 51 3/4; oats unchanged to 1/4 cent higher.

Stocks Rally In Cautious Buying

NEW YORK, May 3.—(AP)—Stocks rallied consistently today under determined but cautious buying.
Quotations advanced from fractions, early in the session, to as much as 1 or more points at the best. It was an interesting day's trade, starting as doubtful beginning and ending with a volume approaching 750,000 shares—half again as large as yesterday's.

Bullish factors, oddly enough, appeared to be a lack of any kind of pertinent news, domestic or foreign. Europe, for a change, was quiet and nothing of major business importance was forthcoming from Washington. Traders seemed to accent this situation as a reason to acquire stocks.

The average price rise was the greatest experienced in Wall Street since President Roosevelt's message to Hitler and Mussolini April 15.

Leaders in the advance included General Electric, Du Pont, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Harvester, Allied Chemical, Montgomery Ward, Case, International Telephone, Santa Fe, Cerro de Pasco, and Texas Corp.

Triumph By Symphony In Closing Its Season

happy seasonal contribution. Their splendid blending of tones was heard again in the encore "My Johnnie Was a Shoemaker," a humorous arrangement of a folk song by Taylor. Gayle Giles Lovese was the quartet's very able accompanist.

"Finlandia" Outstanding

"Finlandia," a nationalistic tone poem by the Finnish composer, expressing the voice of a people and ending in a triumphant chorale was perhaps the leading orchestral selection on the program. Sibelius is widely considered the greatest living composer, and the magnificence of his compositions enhances the international standing of his country, unique for its payments of war debts to Uncle Sam.

The concert opened with the capricious overture from "The Merry Wives of Windsor" by Nicolai, and under the increasingly admirable direction of the conductor, Mr. Rosenthal, was a signal strong, gaily played orchestral offering. Each section intelligent reading of their parts, lead by talented principals, is worthy of outspoken praise.

The concluding programmed number was Fimil's "Three Musketeers," composed in the modern flavor, highlighted by a martial theme and symphonized dance rhythms.

Sincere and extended applause was answered by Mr. Rosenthal's announcement that the orchestra would play "Deep Purple" by de Rose, a composer of the Gershwin "Rhapsody in Blue" school. This "streamlined" symphony has been presented by the orchestra before this year, and was enthusiastically received by an audience that seemed disinclined to call the season "finished."

Many Charges On Jobs Holder

HILLSBORO, Mo., May 3.—(P)—With the voting of four felony indictments, 10 state charges and one federal charge were pending today against Norville W. Brickey, who had held five public jobs including mayor of Festus and presiding judge of the county court.

Brickey has denied all the charges.

Two of the indictments returned by the Jefferson County grand jury yesterday charged embezzlement of $291 of Festus school district funds and two charged grand larceny of $1,621 from the county court and the Festus special road district.

Brickey formerly was president of the school board and treasurer of the road district. He also was a member of the state Social Security Commission.

Six state warrants — three charging grand larceny by trick, two obtaining money under false pretenses and one embezzlement — were issued against Brickey last month by Justice of the peace R. F. Panchot of Festus.

The federal warrant against Brickey charged him with making false entries totaling $88,590 in the accounts of the Citizens' Bank of Festus, of which he was president.

Force Doctor To Extract Bullet

CHICAGO, May 3.—(P)—Pals of a wounded gunman—one of two who killed a man and wounded two policemen in an attempted tavern holdup forced a physician at pistol point today to remove a bullet from the robber's back with a razor blade.

Alex Ferguson, 57, a patron of the tavern at 4623 N. Western avenue, was killed and two policemen, Edwin McIntyre, 42, and Philip Kelly, 35, were wounded in the gun battle.

Dr. Siegmund Hirschfeld notified police he was summoned from his home, driven to an apartment and compelled to extract a bullet from near the base of the spine of a young man. When the bullet was removed, he said, the wounded man snatched it from the doctor and said:

"I'm going to send it back to that guy that shot me and see how he likes it."

The tavern holdup occurred shortly before midnight.

Thwart Attempt To Escape Jail

WHEELING, W. Va., May 3.—A jailer today thwarted the attempt of a Missouri bank robbery suspect to escape from the Ohio county jail, where he is held with three companions for a hearing on their removal to Missouri.

Jailer James Henry said Eugene Booth, 21 of Bloomfield, N. J., had dug three bricks from the wall of the jail and covered the hole with a newspaper. Henry noticed the newspaper laid against the wall and discovered the bricks and mortar covered by other newspapers.

Both, Dolores Castle, 28, of Tulsa, Okla., William Montgomery, 40, of Pittsburgh and Dave Rogers, 30, of Detroit, were seized Monday by Wheeling police. FBI agents said the quartet was wanted for 100 separate crimes, including 11 postoffice and bank robberies in Missouri and Texas. Papers requesting their removal to Joplin, Mo., have arrived out a date for the hearings has not been set.

Mrs. Schneider May Inherit Valued Stock

husband's abandoned sedan was found on a bridge near here Monday; his hat floated ashore, and two notes in the automobile hinted self-destruction.

However, U. S. District Attorney Maurice M. Milligan ordered FBI agents to determine "whether his disappearance is a hoax, a suicide or he met foul play. I cannot believe this man committed suicide."

Schneider was secretary of eight Pendergast companies. The grand jury reported he owned this stock, and that it paid these dividends:

	1935	1936
50 shares Ready-Mixed Concrete Co. $ 2,500		$ 9,375
337 1/2 shares Midwest Co.	10,800	10,800
67 1/2 shares Pre-Cote Co.	10,800	6,750
125 shares K. C. Concrete Pipe Co.	2,500	6,250

Totals$26,500 $33,175

Schneider testified Friday as to Pendergast's income. Saturday the jurors indicted the Democratic boss a second time on income tax evasion charges. The indictment charged that although the stock was in Schneider's name, the dividends actually went to Pendergast.

However, friends said that unless Pendergast held an undisclosed bill of sale giving him the stock upon Schneider's death, Mrs. Schneider would inherit the shares.

The Missouri river was dragged several hours yesterday but failed to yield a body. Other efforts to solve the disappearance also had proved futile. Besides the FBI, Wyandotte County, Kansas, and Kansas City, Kas., officials are investigating.

An official of the Ready-Mixed Company has offered $100 for recovery of the body and Mrs. Schneider added a $250 reward.

Talked With Schneider

KANSAS CITY, May 3.—(P)—Otto P. Higgins, deposed director of police, disclosed today he talked with Edward L. Schneider, secretary of eight T. J. Pendergast controlled business firms, early Monday morning before Schneider disappeared.

Higgins said he telephoned to Schneider Sunday night to offer his sympathy. Schneider had been a witness three and a half days last week before a federal grand jury that indicted Pendergast for alleged evasion of income taxes.

Shortly before noon Monday Schneider's motor car was found on a bridge near here and his hat later was found in the Missouri river. Two notes indicating he planned to take his life were found in the car.

Higgins said Schneider was not at home Sunday night and that Monday morning Higgins again telephoned Schneider and told him he wanted to see him.

The former police director said he drove to the Schneider home and talked with Schneider about two minutes on the front porch. "He looked awful," Higgins said, "there were deep purple rings under his eyes."

Schneider, however, did not appear unduly agitated, Higgins said, and gave no indication that he planned suicide or a disappearance.

Schneider told Higgins he had an early appointment downtown, but did not say who it was with. Asked if he had gone to Schneider's home at the behest of Pendergast or anyone else, Higgins angrily replied:

"Hell, no. He was a friend of mine and I was worried about him. I felt so sorry for him, I wanted to tell him."

Higgins said his conversation with Schneider occurred shortly before 8 o'clock Monday morning. He said he had known Schneider about ten years and that they had a common friendly interest in fishing.

Higgins resigned from the police directorship several weeks ago.

House Restless To End Session

JEFFERSON CITY, May 3.—(P)—The house Republican minority showed its restlessness over the length of the legislative session today. The lawmakers' $1-a-day pay starts tomorrow.

O. B. Whitaker, veteran G. O. P. leader from Hickory County, declared "it is time to send a sine die adjournment resolution over to the senate so we can be prepared to quit."

"I think the date should be fixed at May 15," said Whitaker. "The only thing that might hold us here is the Kansas City police bill and that date would give the senate plenty of time to decide whether it is going to act on that measure."

"If it does not act, the governor can call us back in special session. He should have introduced the police bill long before he did anyway."

Will of M. A. Callis Filed For Probate

The will of the late Monroe A. Callis was filed in the probate court. To his wife he left three city lots which were designated, for a life interest, to go to a daughter, Arline M. Snow, at her death. Three grandchildren, Orpha May Lewis, Ruby Rowena Sievers and Melvin Monroe Turner were left $50 each, the remainder to go to his wife.

A son-in-law, Charles Edwin Snow was named executor.

Neutral Bloc Is Now Aim Of Adolf Hitler

Polish press for exaggerated demands for territory now German. These hopes were further nurtured by a belief that Hungary will stick to Germany through thick and thin.

From a man in a position to know what Hitler and the Hungarian premier and foreign minister — Counts Teleky and Csaky — discussed, the writer ascertains that the Hungarian position is as follows:

Hungary and Poland have been traditional friends.

Sentimental scenes on the Polish Carpathian front last March, when Hungarian troops were battling their way across Carpatho-Ukraine (Czecho-Slovakia) to establish a common frontier between Poland and Hungary, were genuine.

But sentiment and tradition cannot stand in the way of the hard facts of politics. The fact is the Poles have rejected an offer from Hitler which the Hungarian government considers to have been magnanimous.

Hungary Feels Secure

Hungary feels secure in her friendship with Germany.

She does not know what "mistakes" Poland may make next. Hence, if a choice must be made between Poland and Germany, Hungary is ready to side with Germany.

Meanwhile, Hungary fervently hopes that Poland through foreign Minister Joseph Beck's speech to parliament Friday will prove "reasonable." She has reason to believe that Premier Mussolini is urging moderation upon both Poland and Germany.

As to Slovakia, the Hungarian dream of seeing it incorporated in a greater Hungary still persists but at present difficulties of realizing it are so great that it is the part of wisdom not to press it.

Hitler himself apparently took the initiative in the offers to the Scandinavian nations.

Identical notes offering non-aggression pacts were delivered to the ministers of the four Scandinavian nations.

Identical notes offering non-aggression pacts were delivered to the ministers of the four Scandinavian countries, it was said, and the envoys immediately forwarded the notes to their governments.

Hitler apparently had determined to give the world proof of his desire for peace.

His government by way of assuring the Scandinavian countries, it was understood, had advised Finland and Sweden that Germany had no objections to joint fortification of the Aaland islands which dominate the entrance to the Gulf of Bothnia, northern extension of the Baltic.

(A Berlin dispatch to Helsingfors said Germany had proposed Finland commit herself to strict neutrality in event of war in the Baltic in exchange for German approval of the island fortifications.)

Scandinavian diplomatic quarters in Berlin took it for granted that the foreign ministers of Denmark, Finland, Norway and Sweden would meet soon to formulate a joint reply to the proposal of non-aggression pacts.

It was known that Scandinavian diplomats accredited to Berlin have been in close communication with each other and all were convinced that their chiefs would meet soon.

The Scandinavian countries, even as far back as the World War, have acted in unison on all matters affecting them jointly.

The chances for success of Hitler's move could not yet be foretold.

Generally speaking, as one experienced diplomat pointed out, any small nation is glad to have her inviolability guaranteed by a formidable neighbor.

For small nations there is a big proviso, however — namely their aversion to obligations of a nature which would severely restrict their independence of action in event the big nation guarantor became involved with third powers.

For instance, considerations of this kind prevented Denmark in 1934 from following the suggestion of Poland that she sign a pact with Germany similar to the 1934 10-year Polish-German non-aggression accord — an agreement which was renounced last Friday by Hitler.

Arrange Suit To Collect Pay

KANSAS CITY, May 3.—Eight suits asking a total of $633,049 in back salaries for 1,942 municipal employees were filed today in circuit court. They will not be contested by the city.

Mayor Bryce B. Smith said the only way out of the difficulty was for the employees to bring suit to have the city issue judgment bonds. The First National Bank was assigned the claims by the employees as trustees and filed the suits. A hearing has been set for Friday. Smith certified the back pay list as correct before the suit was filed.

Between January 1 and April 30, 1939, 1,942 municipal employees received either no pay or only part of their salaries.

Mayor Bryce B. Smith and acting city manager Eugene C. Zachman have expressed hope the employees can be paid by the issuance of judgment bonds.

A. L. Darby, city finance director, announced he soon would have available a complete list of the city's unpaid bills. Zachman estimated these unpaid bills will total between $1,100,000 and $1,- 200,000. The charter provides a warrant may be issued by the finance director only when funds are available.

To Be Host To Boys And Girls

KANSAS CITY, May 3.—(P)—Accepting the "teen-age child as one "representing a great opportunity rather than a problem," the Methodist Episcopal church will be host to thousands of boys and girls in 66 camps this summer.

The quotes are from Miss Clarice M. Bowman of Chicago, director of intermediate work for the Epworth league and of young people's work for the church's board of education.

Miss Bowman, a delegate to the Methodist unification conference here, said camp life is designed "to emphasize physical health, social values and, above all, spiritual values."

"We work with boys and girls 12 to 14 years old. This is the age in which there formerly was the greatest loss to the Sunday school and church."

Children can attend the camps for $1.50 to $8 a week, depending upon the locality. Counselors are trained volunteers.

Alf M. Landon's address "is a world peace conference practical" headlines tonight's program.

The address will be broadcast nationally (NBC Blue, 7 p. m., CST) and will be translated for short wave relay to Europe and South America.

Landon, a delegate to the Pan-American conference in Lima last December and Republican presidential nominee in 1936, has supported portions of President Roosevelt's foreign policy; strongly criticized others.

Miners To Take Up Compromise

NEW YORK, May 3.—(P)—John L. Lewis, CIO chief, called into emergency session today his full policy committee of 140 district United Mine Workers officials to consider a new compromise offer to end the Appalachian soft coal shutdown.

The offer was made yesterday by a committee representing 2,000 bituminous operators in negotiations to avert a complete work stoppage in the industry.

Renewing their willingness to recognize the UMW as the sole collective bargaining agent for the industry, the operators offered also to install a checkoff system whereby they would collect dues from non-union as well as union miners.

The latter proposal was included ostensibly to give Lewis the protection against rival unions he has sought through demands for a closed shop or the elimination of strike penalty clauses.

Declines Comment

NEW YORK, May 3.—(P)—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, today declined comment on the soft coal situation in the region beyond the Appalachian district. Unless his order to shut down Thursday and Friday is countermanded, more than 100,000 miners will leave their jobs.

More Dramatic Turn Over The Police Bill

he shouted. "If it's vicious leave it vicious. The day will come when the people will rebel against its viciousness."

"I'm inherently opposed to what might be termed 'carpet-bag' rule. Conceding every charge made against Kansas City is true, I'm not ready to stand here and say 400,000 people in the second largest city in Missouri are not capable of governing themselves."

Taylor admitted "I may be crucified because of my stand on this measure—politically and personally."

"But I would rather be retired from public life than violate my own conscience."

"I've seen these reform waves come and go before. Prejudice is in the saddle and reason has been swept aside."

"I was shocked to find that only nine of the 43 members of the judiciary committee (which acted favorably on the measure) had read this bill."

Denies Bill Vicious

"We'll pass this bill; it may become a law. But the time will come when reason and fair dealing will again govern in Missouri."

Rep. William B. Weakley (D), Pike county, who introduced the police proposal, said in reply "this is not a vicious bill to deprive Kansas City of home rule."

"What we have had in Kansas City is mid-rule in every department of government," he asserted. "The people there have not had a chance to rule themselves. This is a measure for good government—to eliminate ballot stealing, crime and gambling."

Crowded galleries were denied anticipated legislative fireworks as the measure, inspired by Gov. Lloyd C. Stark, was called for perfection under a special order of business yesterday.

Throughout the afternoon, the chamber moved methodically to trample all opposition amendments and adopt those offered by backers of the bill.

The two major tests came on amendments offered by Reps. Edgar J. Keating and V. E. Phillips, both Kansas City Democrats.

Keating's proposal—for a referendum by Kansas City voters before the measure could become effective—was snowed under, 86 to 45.

On the roll call, the Republican minority sat silently until absentee members were called and then cast 49 votes solidly against the amendment. Before the absentees were polled the vote was 43 for, 36 against.

The second—and most decisive test—came on the Phillips amendment. The scholarly Kansas Cityan sought to limit state control of his city's police force to four years.

A standing vote was so close Rep. William B. Weakley (D), pike county, author of the bill, and others demanded a roll call. Speaker J. G. Christy quieted the hubbub with "of course."

The vote was 75 to 61 against, with some members not voting.

Lawyer Is Heckled

The galleries leaned forward only once during the session—when Rep. G. Purd Hays, fiery little Republican lawyer from Christian county, spoke scathingly of Kansas City police conditions.

Opponents so heckled him with points or order he finally was forced to yield the floor. Hays arose to speak on the Keating amendment.

"The governor asked for this bill and as governor he has the right to ask up to help him see that the laws are properly enforced. This bill will help him put down crime, especially in Kansas City," said Hays.

"Point or order," broke in Rep. E. J. Hogan (D), St. Louis. "You're not speaking on the amendment."

"How do you know," Hays retorted.

"They have every kind of dirty crime up there—kidnaping, murder, robbery and all the rest," Hays continued. "By passing this bill we give the governor a weapon to help the good people of Kansas City to have a better place in which to live."

Before he could continue cries of "point of order" sounded from all sections of the house. The speaker finally asked Hays to give up the floor.

Dr. A. J. Gray (R), Atchison county, opposed the referendum amendment with:

"This plan is absurd. They can't have an honest election in Kansas City. That's a matter of court record."

On Keating's amendment, the tabulation showed 36 Democrats joined 49 Republicans in voting against it.

On Phillips' proposal nine less Democrats joined the Republican minority in voting "no."

Earlier the bill had been amended to make the proposed four-man police board partisan instead of bi-partisan. Weakley himself offered the amendment.

The Pike countyman made no statement in support of the bill. He limited his opposition to most of the opposition amendments to:

"I'm 'agin' it."

Weakley made no objection to several corrective amendments, or to one which cut proposed salaries of the board, to be appointed by the governor, from $3,600 to $1,000 annually.

Chandler Warns On Violence

HARLAN, Ky., May 3—(P)—Beating of a miner today and deputies sheriff last night in Harlan coal fields brought a warning from Governor A. B. Chandler that the state highway patrol is "prepared to keep peace, it can do it, and it will."

The Governor, from the state capitol in Frankfort, added:

"There's not going to be any beating and terrorizing of our county officials by fellows from outside the state or our own men. The state is going to stay orderly."

"The officers will see that the roads are kept clear and if anyone tries to congregate along the highway, they'll keep them moving. They're to see that there's no violence."

"If anybody tries to make trouble, they'll put them in jail." The governor said he had placed full authority overnight in the hands of industrial relations Commissioner William C. Burrow and Highway Commissioner Robert Humphreys, telling them to "do what's necessary but don't anticipate trouble."

"Burrow telephoned me this morning (from Harlan) it looked like there would be trouble," the governor said.

Most eastern Kentucky mines have been closed since union contracts expired April 1 and operators and union representatives, negotiating in New York City, have failed to sign a new contract.

Burrows reported to Chandler there were indications some operators would attempt to resume operations regardless of the outcome of the New York negotiations, and trouble threatened.

"I didn't tell those operators to operate the mines and I didn't tell them not to," Governor Chandler declared, "if they do, we're going to see the law is kept and nobody's right invaded."

Movieland's Star System Dead; Fans Demand Fresh Faces, Stories

Only Six Real Drawing Cards Left, Says Director; Public Balks At Ballyhoo Build-ups

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD, May 2—The "star system" is dead. For a couple of years it has been having sinking spells and transfusions of red ink. This was a costly, hopeless fight.

The motion picture industry will not acknowledge the death of the "star system" because the latter is supposed to be another name for GLAMOR and GLAMOR is still in her ivory tower—sulking, maybe, but still there.

Actually the "star system" was simply this: That if you took one or more celluloid deities of sufficient importance and popped them into a picture along with some spicy ballyhoo, that picture would make money regardless of its merit.

The idea worked. It made hundreds of millions of dollars. A story could be stupid, its direction inadequate, its players miscast and incompetent. But if its stars were worshiped by the fans, the film would clean up.

"The Play's The Thing" That is not true any longer. The customers still have their favorites but they go to see the pictures and not the actresses and actors. This is admitted privately by every executive with whom I have talked. But they will not admit for publication that star names are depreciating rapidly in value.

Naturally they want to preserve what is left of the public's reverent attitude. Also, they blame newspaper correspondents, and fiction and play writers for glamorizing (and debunking) Talkie-town and its inmates.

They also blame censorship, headed by their own Hays Office, for its stern attitude against sex both in movies and stills. After all, sex is the shortest definition of glamor.

"Do you realize," asked a prominent director, "that there are only six real stars left in pictures? I mean names which in themselves are box-office draws—names that have an appeal above the title or the quality of a picture. They are Bing Crosby, Clark Gable, Gary Cooper, Shirley Temple, Deanna Durbin and Sonja Henie. Pictures Now Billed Above Players

"Shirley Temple has been the box-office champion for four successive years. But her 'Little Princess,' which is a good picture, is making three times as much as 'Just Around The Corner,' which wasn't so hot. So you realize that fans are going to see Shirley's pictures, and not just Shirley."

"And have you noticed that they are billing Shirley's name under the title of 'The Little Princess' the same way with Joan Crawford in

'Ice Follies.' This is the first time in ten years that Joan has not been advertised above her pictures."

There is other evidence of the collapse of the star system. "Parnell," with Clark Gable and Myrna Loy, was one of the worst flops in Hollywood history.

The colony admitted that it was a bad picture, but the colony also was surprised and shocked when Gable and Loy fans stayed away by the hundreds of thousands. "Test Pilot" with the same two stars, has attracted $2,000,000 more than "Parnell."

Recent Joan Crawford pictures, all badly scripted, did poor business. Marlene Dietrich's last films flopped. Greta Garbo's were popular only abroad. Norma Shearer, Claudette Colbert, Gary Cooper, Lombard and virtually all the top names have found that their presence in a flicker is small compensation for a dull story.

Fans Creating Own Stars A critical public, fed up with hoopla and extravagant adjectives has decided that it will have no more artificially created "stars" crammed into its craw.

It rejected Anna Sten and Simone Simon and has been apathetic toward several others who have been given costly buildups.

Cinema-goers are showing that they can build their own stars. One youngster they like is dazzling Dorothea Kent, above.

A fresh film face, Ellen Drew draws big hand from movie fans.

At the same time, the fans have demonstrated that they can build players of their own choice. Some thing is bound to happen when the thousands of letters bounce into a studio demanding a break for "that cute little Marjorie Weaver," or Ellen Drew, or Dorothea Kent. Such notice was responsible for the career of Robert Taylor, and a very worried Hedy Lamarr now has her fingers crossed as she hopes to be able to justify an acclaim which nobody expected for her in "Algiers."

In general, though, the public seems more interested in players' abilities than in the players themselves. Little is left of the old blind adulation, and it is well known that the "mobbing" of picture favorites out of town is the result of stage management, publicity and often hired claquees.

Good Stories Cleaning Up

Meanwhile good stories without stars are cleaning up. "Four Daughters" was one. "Pygmalion" is beating the wildest guesses of its distributors. The Hardy Family series, with a low-salaried but able cast, and on Class B budgets, is making millions and has taught Hollywood more than it learned in years about what the public wants.

Current phenomenon is "Stagecoach." For the lead, Walter Wanger borrowed John Wayne from little Republic, where he had been in a series of quickie westerns. For the girl—Claire Trevor, former queen of the B's at 20th-Fox. And now the picture is outgrossing practically all of the star studded super doopers made in recent months.

Such facts merely underscore an observation made some time ago by a smart showman named Shakespeare: "The play's the thing."

Sanction Merger Of Rail Lines

WASHINGTON, May 3—(P)—The interstate commerce commission authorized the Kansas City Southern Railway company today to acquire control of the Louisiana & Arkansas Railway company.

Under the unification plan, the Kansas City Southern will exchange its stock for stock of the Louisiana & Arkansas.

The ICC authorized the Kansas City Southern, in order to carry out the plan, to issue 510,000 shares of common stock without par value.

In support of its proposal to acquire control of the Louisiana & Arkansas, the Kansas City Southern said it would aid in the internal development of the Southwest, result in improvement in service, promote efficiency and economy in operation, tend to preserve and promote competition and enable the unified system to compete with other systems on more nearly equal terms.

Are Honored In Achievements

COLUMBIA, Mo., May 3—(P)—Twenty-nine outstanding University of Missouri students were honored for achievement in scholarship and campus activities with a membership in three national honorary societies at the annual "tap" day here yesterday.

Ceremonies are conducted around the historic columns on the campus, and were held today as a feature event on the student centennial memorial program.

Invitation to join Mortar Board, for women, QEBH and Mystical Seven, for men, is the highest honor a student can achieve.

The Missourians tapped include: Dudley June Bidstrup, Beaman, Mystical Seven and Harry Barger, Sweet Springs in QEBH.

Writer Known As 'Polly Pry' Dies

NEW YORK, May 3—(P)—Mrs. Augusta Raymond Kidder, known under the pseudonym of "Polly Pry" to newspaper readers of several decades ago and a pioneer in the fight for women's suffrage, died yesterday.

The widow of Edward E. Kidder, American dramatist, she was related on the paternal side to Henry Jarvis Raymond, founder of the New York Times, and on the maternal side to Horace Greeley of the New York Tribune. Funeral services will be held Friday.

No Longer Be A Secret Fund

KANSAS CITY, May 3—(P)—City officials today disclosed a secret fund, known as the "city managers emergency fund," paid out hundreds of thousands of dollars of the municipality's money during the administration of H. F. McElroy and that he did not account for the expenditures.

Mayor Bryce B. Smith ordered the account closed when he took the reins of the government April 13 in a dramatic coup which led to McElroy's resignation and the money remaining in it, $1,827, was returned to the general fund.

City officials said McElroy did not profit personally by this fund and several who were familiar with some of the transactions believe every dime can be accounted for, but they did not dispute the records showing books were juggled and transfers of money were made from bond funds and general funds to the secret fund.

Payments from the fund ranged from $2,500 to $300,000 and one official volunteered the larger amount was used to save the city money in purchasing right-of-way for needed improvements. They said the fund was maintained six or eight years or perhaps longer.

A preliminary examination of the city's books indicates money from the fund was used for salaries on secret payrolls. How much money passed through the fund was a matter of speculation at the city hall.

Inspection Routine Put On In Reverse

NEW YORK, May 3—(P)—The quick thinking of an ex-farmboy from Kansas was credited today with saving handsome young Crown Prince Olaf of Norway from embarrassment during a state visit to the U. S. S. Tennessee.

The incident developed when the prince, unfamiliar with American customs, started the wrong way down the second rank while inspecting a marine guard of honor.

Without blinking, the last marine in line who suddenly became first snapped to "inspection arms" and the whole line of his fellow leathernecks, taking the cue, ran through the inspection routine in reverse.

Officers withheld the name of the alert enlisted man, who later blurted: "I had to do something!"

Negroes Ignore Warning And Vote

MIAMI, Fla., May 3—(P)—Negro citizens who ignored a spectacular warning by hooded and white-robed figures not to vote in the city primary were shown in unofficial returns today to have made nearly identical selections of city commission candidates as white voters.

A special polling booth where negroes alone voted facilitated the analysis. A total of 616 votes were cast there, and except for one candidate the election preference by negroes and whites were the same.

The exception was John T. Christiansen, who prior to yesterday's primary made public a letter to City Clerk Frank J. Kelly asking him to throw out any negro votes that might be cast for him.

Christiansen was in sixth place when returns were tabulated, but at the negro booth he received only 23 votes.

Mayor E. C. Sewell led the ticket with 15,821 votes, 422 of which were polled at the negro booth.

The negro citizens service league urged voting and sought police protection. Extra guards were assigned polling places where negroes voted, but there was no disorder.

Monday night men in Ku Klux regalia paraded in 50 automobiles through the negro section, burned 25 fiery crosses, hanged a man in effigy, displayed a hangman's noose and distributed cards reading: "respectable negro citizens not voting tomorrow. Niggers stay away from the polls."

College Choir Gives Program

The Missouri Valley College Chapel Choir from Marshall presented a musical program this morning in the auditorium of Smith-Cotton high school for the senior high student body.

The choir was under the direction of Dean Claude L. Fichthorn, who has been at Missouri Valley for several years.

The program consisted of the following songs:

"Oh, Lamb of God," — Decius.

"Go Not Far From Me," — Zin-garelli.

"Oh, Blessed Are Thee," — Tschaikowsky.

"Praise the Lord," — Koschetz.

"Lost In The Night" — Christiansen.

"Ho La Li" — Lucas.

"Tanka and Vanka," — Russian traditional.

"Cossack," — Russian traditional (these last two songs were directed by Roland Godfrey, who is a senior at Missouri Valley and who graduated from Smith-Cotton.)

"The Pedlar," English Round.

Dearest Sam

I am sorry but I pray God will help you and Helen to bear through it all.

This ordeal for the past month is just too much and it is getting worse all the time. I still say I don't know what I thought was doing no harm to anyone.

I love Helen and you too much to have you go through what might happen to me so please feel that I am resting.

Be brave and bear through this for Helen's sake and I pray that both of you will get along alright.

Lots of love to
Helen and you
Love by
Daddy
